

Andrew Roby

Andrew Roby was born in Miami, Florida, Andrew understands the glitz and glam that events bring and most importantly how to party. As an Army Veteran who has held such titles as Soldier and Non-Commissioned Officer of the Year, he knows just how critical each mission and in this case events, can be. He has a keen ability to capture a client's ideas and effectively create them into an event of one's dreams. Attention to detail, thoughtful, and eye-catching designs ensures a well-managed and perfectly curated event. Andrew's goal is to turn events into captivating experiences that go beyond the planning and design realm. Events should evoke action and change behavior and Andrew desires to be at the front of this movement.
